

Thanking God in Every Remembrance

It's been quite a year, and the summer travel hasn't even really begun yet. (That starts tomorrow). Thank you all so much for your encouragement and support in the passing of my Dad. Knowing that he is with Jesus and Mom has made this whole process so much easier. The timing of my Dad's memorial service coincided with our daughter Elise's High School graduation, which was only two days later. It was a crazy week, but lots more relatives were in town to celebrate her day. Please continue to lift our family before the Lord whenever He brings us to your mind.

Becky and the three kids all leave at 5 am tomorrow for a mission trip to New Orleans with our church's student choir. I leave at 4:30 am on Tuesday the 10th for a basketball mission trip to Panama. (Yes, I still play). When we all arrive back home, we head out for a preaching trip up the east coast of the US. I will be preaching in Virginia, New Hampshire, and Miami during the 25th of June till the 19th of July. During that time we will also be burying both my parent's ashes in a family ceremony at a cemetery in Rhode Island. God continues to work out all the details of everything we have to do in life.

Our son AJ will be travelling for over a month out west this summer in a motorhome with his grandfather on Becky's side, five cousins and two uncles. What an amazing amount of experiences he is going to have! We look forward to seeing him again as we all get back together at the end of July. Then Elise heads off to Florida State University, and Nicole moves home to commute during her final semester at UCF. There is much more happening than this! Please check the Justapreacher web-site's speaking schedule page to get all of the preaching dates. I am only sharing just a small portion of what is happening in our lives as we continue in this ministry of raising a family in the Lord, and encouraging the church family along the way.

Paul said in Philippians 1:3, that he thanked God in all of his remembrances of them. He then went on a couple of verses later to thank them for their partnership in the Gospel from that day until now. I can truly say the same thing when I think of all of you who support us in prayer and financial gifts. God has blessed us with so many friends all over the world who have been such an encouragement over the years. We really do thank God whenever we think of you! May you have a great "God-orchestrated" summer as well. We love you all, Jim, Becky, Nicole, Elise, and AJ.

Jim's family was together for Dad's home-going celebration.

Many Thanks
